Verbs describe the action or the state of being of the subject of the sentence. Complete sentences always have verbs. Many sentences have more than one type of verb in them. Three common types of verbs and some examples of each are given below:

Action Verbs - express action or state of being.

Example: Native Americans smoked peace pipes during important ceremonies.

Action Verbs

gallop	harvest	gather	hunt
travel	eat

Helping Verbs - help the main verb express action or state of being. Example: Peace pipes were considered sacred among Native Americans.

Helping Verbs

being	do	shall	will	did	was

Linking Verbs - connect the subject to an adjective or noun describing it.

Example: The red stone used to make the bowl of the pipe is catlinite.

Linking Verbs

feel look sound seem were might be

Some verbs can be used as both helping and linking verbs. It just depends on how they are used. You will have to look closely to see if it is followed by an action verb to determine how it is being used.

Helping or Linking Verbs

is are am was were

Verbs

Trace the verb in each sentence.
Circle which type of verb it is.

1. Peace pipes were used by Native American tribes in North America.

were –	action	helping	linking
used –	action	helping	linking

2. However, not just any stone could be used for this important religious symbol.

could be –	action	helping	linking
used –	action	helping	linking

3. Plains and Woodlands Indians traveled many miles to a special quarry in Minnesota to barter for this sacred stone.

traveled –	action	helping	linking barter –	action	helping	linking

4. Pipestone, or catlinite, is a special red clay found in only a few places throughout the world.

is –	action	helping	linking found –	action	helping	linking

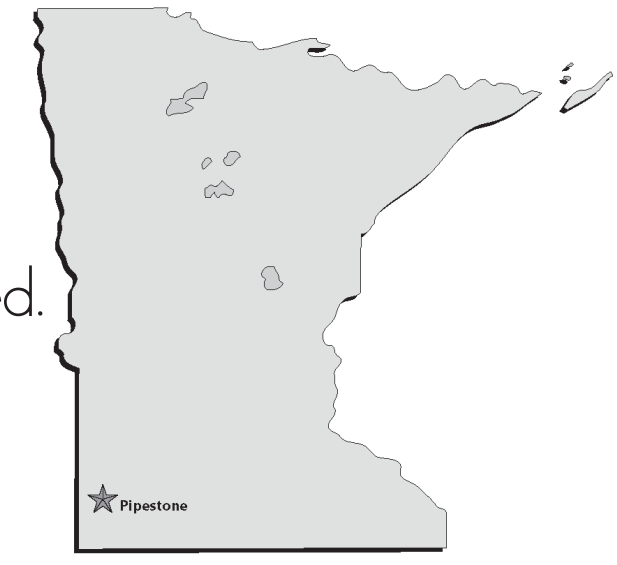
Verbs

Practice circling all verbs found in the sentences and circle what kind of verb it is.

1. Pipestone National Monument is located just outside the town of Pipestone, Minnesota, in the southwestern part of the state.

_____ action helping linking

_____ action helping linking



2. Visitors can see actual pipestone being quarried.

_____ action helping linking

_____ action helping linking

3. There are Native American craft demonstrations during the summer.

_____ action helping linking

4. There is a short hiking path that leads visitors past the quarry and a beautiful waterfall.

_____ action helping linking

_____ action helping linking

Verbs

Write all verbs found in the sentences on the line, and circle what kind of verb it is.

1. Pipestone National Monument is located just outside the town of Pipestone, Minnesota, in the southwestern part of the state.

_____ action (helping) linking
is

_____ (action) helping linking located

2. Visitors can see actual pipestone being quarried.

_____ action (helping) linking can

_____ (action) helping linking see

3. There are Native American craft demonstrations during the summer.

_____ action helping (linking) are

4. There is a short hiking path that leads visitors past the quarry and a beautiful waterfall.

_____ action helping (linking)
is

_____ (action) helping linking leads

J	A	L	N	L	S	G	Z	D	L	S	D	W	A	C
X	S	K	J	A	Q	U	A	R	R	Y	I	O	R	L
S	T	I	V	L	D	K	B	Q	W	W	H	O	P	K
N	A	O	G	N	O	N	D	C	H	Z	W	D	U	B
I	D	W	Q	T	X	R	A	E	O	M	M	L	E	X
A	I	A	A	E	O	Z	N	M	X	Z	S	A	T	L
L	H	S	E	I	N	O	M	E	R	E	C	N	I	A
P	H	F	S	S	T	N	F	O	T	O	Y	D	N	K
T	C	C	M	S	D	O	E	K	C	S	B	S	I	O
F	K	G	E	G	T	V	J	Y	C	G	V	Q	L	T
R	M	P	B	H	T	K	G	I	E	A	I	I	T	A
M	I	N	N	E	S	O	T	A	B	H	L	W	A	F
P	T	O	B	A	C	C	O	I	Q	W	C	B	C	H
N	E	E	N	W	A	P	E	R	K	G	A	U	L	M
E	P	I	P	E	C	A	E	P	F	Q	X	G	V	O

Word Bank

blackfoot	catlinite	ceremonies
cheyenne	crow	dakota
hidatsa	kiowa	lakota
oto	minnesota	ojibwa
pipestone	pawnee	peacepipe
sioux	plains	quarry
mandan	tobacco	woodlands

Verbs

Complete the word search.

Adverbs modify a verb, adjective, or another adverb. This helps the reader understand their meanings better. Reader's clue: Many, but not all, words ending in the suffix –ly are adverbs (lovely and friendly are adjectives.) To help you identify adverbs in a sentence, look for words that answer these questions.

Where? When? How?
How much? How often? How long?

"Brandon put the birthday present there."
There modifies the verb put.

Monica thought the puppy was just too cute!
Too modifies the adjective cute.

Adverbs

Read and trace the dotted words.

Adverbs modify a verb, adjective, or another adverb.
Adverbs answer the questions:

How? Where? When?
How much? How often? How long?

1. Erin had to wait patiently in the doctor's office.

Patiently modifies the verb wait.

2. She was going to have to get a shot and she hoped the needle would not be too long.

Too modifies the adjective long.

3. Her brother Eric was extremely bored and began making loud noises.

Extremely modifies bored.

4. Erin's name was finally called and she walked confidently to the nurse holding her chart.

Finally modifies called and confidently modifies walked.

Adverbs

Read and trace the dotted words.

1. The school librarian had clearly posted the rules students were to follow.

2. Number one on the list said the students were to enter quietly.

3. If they needed to talk, students were instructed to speak softly.

4. Books were to be put away after use.

5. Although she had strict rules, she was very helpful.

6. She knew all the new books and frequently suggested titles to students.

7. The librarian clearly knew how to do her job and make the library enjoyable.

8. It is no wonder there is always a line at the checkout desk.

Adverbs

Identify the adverb and draw an arrow to the word it modifies.

1. The school librarian had clearly posted the rules students were to follow.

2. Number one on the list said the students were to enter quietly.

3. If they needed to talk, students were instructed to speak softly.

4. Books were to be put away after use.

5. Although she had strict rules, she was very helpful.

6. She knew all the new books and frequently suggested titles to students.

7. The librarian clearly knew how to do her job and make the library enjoyable.

8. It is no wonder there is always a line at the checkout desk.

1. eerh _____

2. yawa _____

3. iequlyt _____

4. yver _____

5. uullsay _____

6. reorfev _____

7. ssle _____

8. tfoen _____

9. setuodi _____

10. etalr _____

Adverbs

Unscramble these common adverbs.

1. eerh _____
here

2. yawa _____
away

3. iequlyt _____
quietly

4. yver _____
very

5. uullsay _____
usually

6. reorfev _____
forever

7. ssle _____
less

8. tfoen _____
often

9. setuodi _____
outside

10. etalr _____
later

Prepositions are used before a noun or pronoun and show a relationship to another word in the sentence. They usually refer to location or when something happened.

Here are some common prepositions. We will practice using these and others in this section of the module.

around	after	in	at	before	since	on between	by	of	down	for	with	until

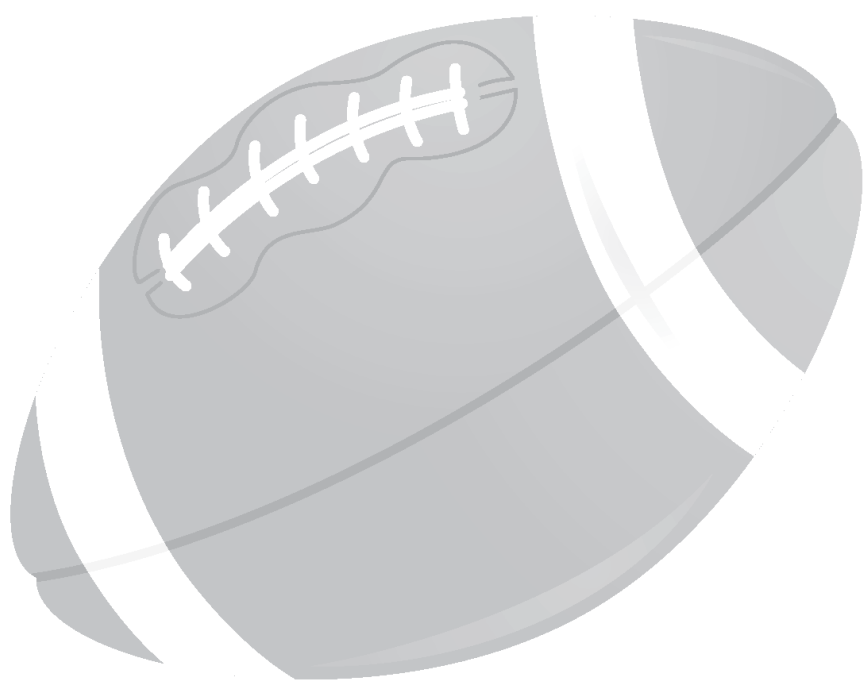
1. All around the school there was a bubbling excitement.

2. The first football game of the school year was in two days.

3. The students had decorated signs and placed them on their lockers.

4. Students and teachers alike could not wait until the big day.



Prepositions are used before a noun or pronoun and show a relationship to another word in a sentence. They usually refer to location or when something happened.

The dotted words are prepositions and the underlined words are the related nouns.

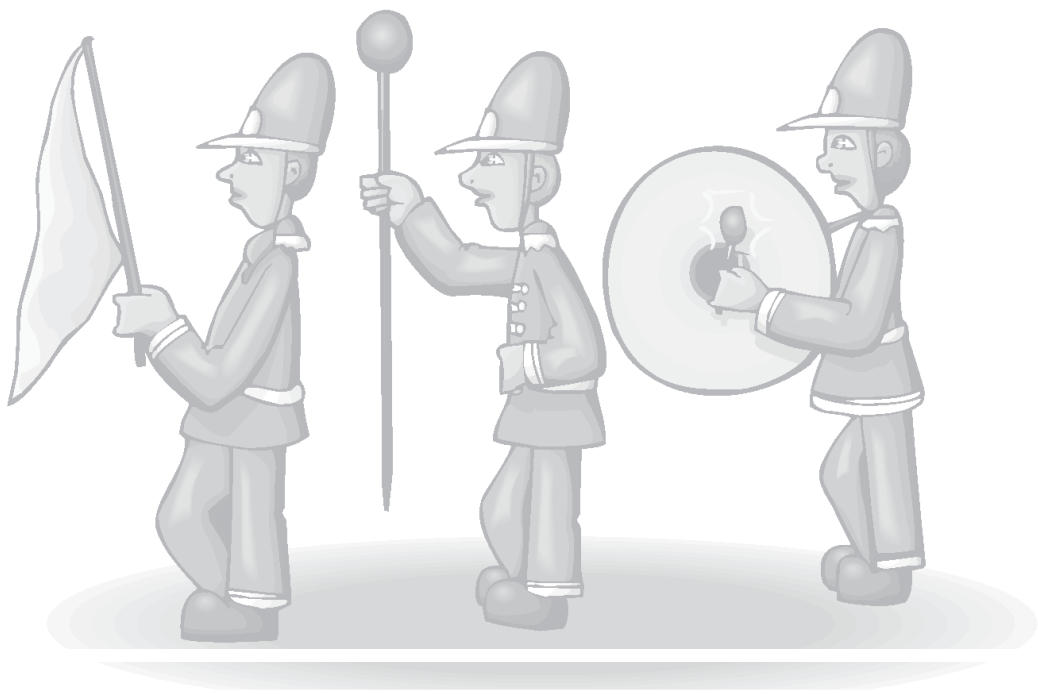
1. The school band had been practicing for about a month.

2. On the afternoon of the game, band members started assembling at the field.

3. Many of them had their instruments tucked under their arms as they paraded through the gates onto the field.

4. The drummers kept rhythm until the band got settled in the stands.

5. Suddenly, the hometown band struck up the melody to "We've Got Spirit, How Bout You!"

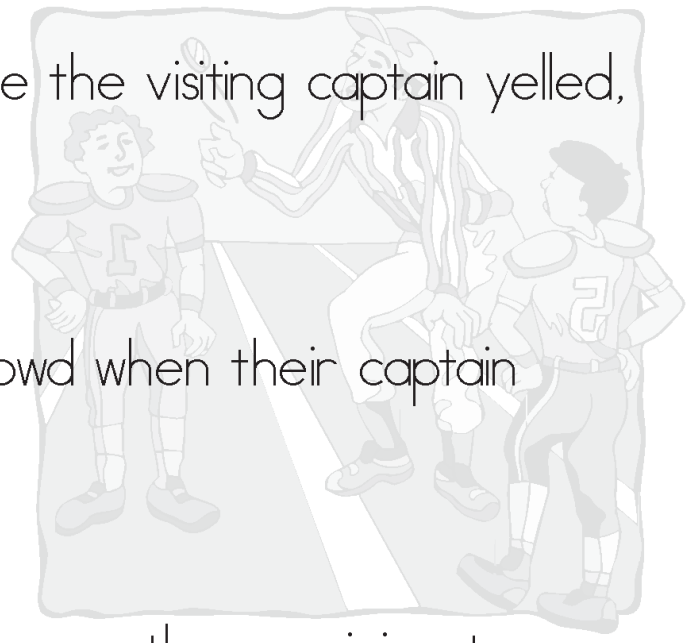


Prepositions

Read and trace the important words.

1. The captains of the rival teams met on the fifty-yard line.

2. The head referee tossed a coin into the air while the visiting captain yelled, "heads!"

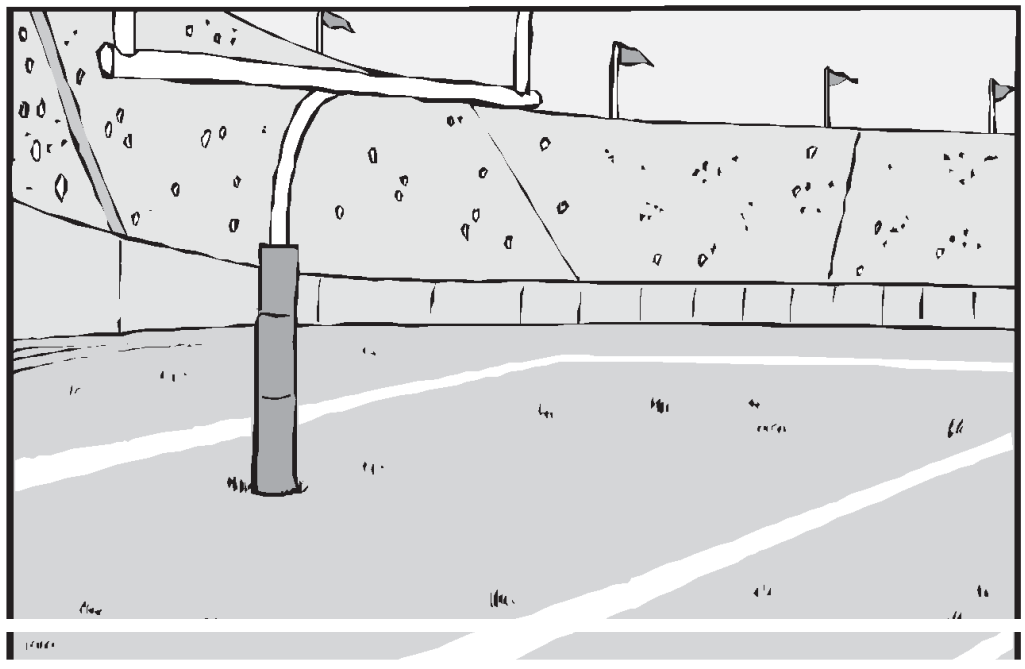


3. A great cheer went up from the hometown crowd when their captain signaled they had won the toss.

4. The hometown team elected to kick the ball because the receiving team would have to fight against the strong northern wind blowing across the field.

5. The kicker signaled, and the ball sailed through the air, finally coming to a rolling stop on the one-yard line.

6. During the kickoff, the band had been playing the school fight song to inspire the crowd and players. It worked!



Prepositions

Circle the prepositions. Then underline the noun or pronoun that goes with it.

1. The captains of the rival teams met on the fifty-yard line.

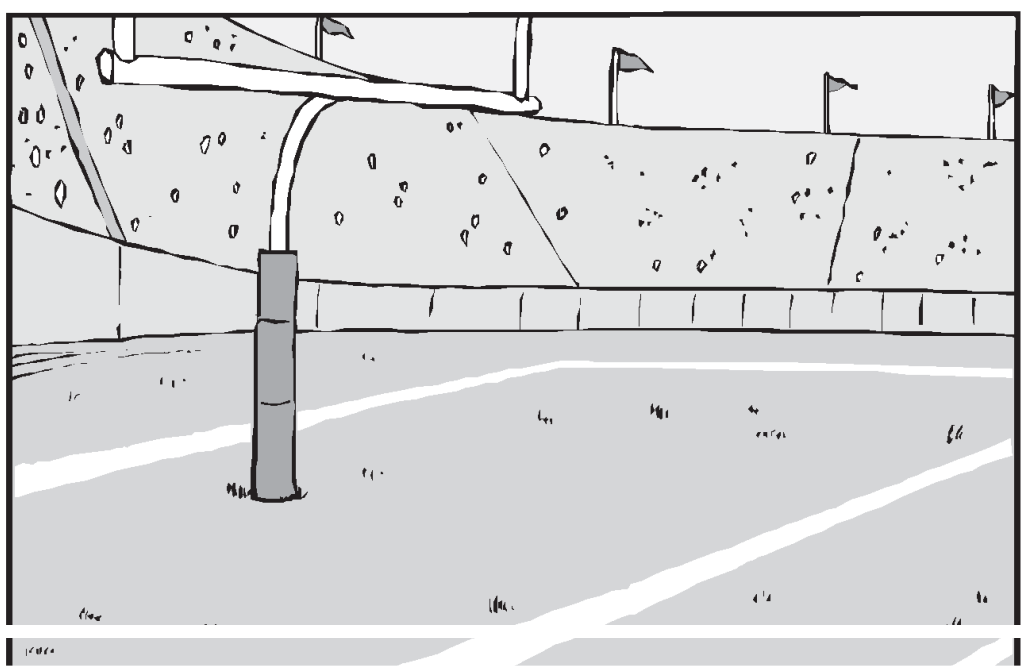
2. The head referee tossed a coin into the air while the visiting captain yelled, "heads!"

3. A great cheer went up from the hometown crowd when their captain signaled they had won the toss.

4. The hometown team elected to kick the ball because the receiving team would have to fight against the strong northern wind blowing across the field.

5. The kicker signaled, and the ball sailed through the air, finally coming to a rolling stop on the one-yard line.

6. During the kickoff, the band had been playing the school fight song to inspire the crowd and players. It worked!



Conjunctions join words or groups of words. There are two types of conjunctions: coordinating and correlative. Coordinating conjunctions join words or groups of words together used in the same way. Examples of these types of conjunctions are:

and but for nor or so yet

They can join words:

pizza and a drink swim or play soccer

They can join phrases:

after school but before dinner

They can join sentences:

Sue had studied hard, yet she was still surprised by a few questions on the test.

Conjunctions Read and trace the dotted words.

Pairs of conjunctions join words or word groups used in the same way. These pairs are:

both/and either/or not only/but also neither/nor whether/or

Both Blake and Matt played in the All - Star game.

Neither rain nor snow stops mail from being delivered.

I have to decide whether to keep the black and white tennis shoes or take them back for the navy blue ones.

Conjunctions

Read and trace the dotted words.

1. I went to the mall and saw that a new store had opened.

2. Casey or Michaela will ride with you to the movies.

3. Both the inflatable obstacle course and the waterslide will have to be cancelled if it rains.

4. We got up late, so we missed the bus.

5. On vacation this summer, I went to Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York.

6. Whether you want to go with your friends or play a video game, you still have to clean your room.

Conjunctions

Read and trace the conjuctions.

1. The bears eat a lot in the fall, for winter is fast approaching.

2. Not only did Mark Spitz win seven gold medals in the 1972 Olympics, but he was also included in Sports Illustrated's top 100 athletes of the 20th century.

3. Emily wanted to get a puppy, but her parents told her she would have to wait until her birthday.

4. Either do your homework right away when you get home or right after dinner.

5. I wanted to visit my grandparents in Vermont, yet I was concerned about the long plane ride.

6. I knew the deadline for my book report was fast approaching, so I went to the library to find a book.

7. Whether Jen goes home or stays after school for soccer practice, she has to call and let her parents know where she is.

Conjunctions Circle the conjunctions.

1. The bears eat a lot in the fall, for winter is fast approaching.

2. Not only did Mark Spitz win seven gold medals in the 1972 Olympics, but he was also included in Sports Illustrated's top 100 athletes of the 20th century.

3. Emily wanted to get a puppy, but her parents told her she would have to wait until her birthday.

4. Either do your homework right away when you get home or right after dinner.

5. I wanted to visit my grandparents in Vermont, yet I was concerned about the long plane ride.

6. I knew the deadline for my book report was fast approaching, so I went to the library to find a book.

7. Whether Jen goes home or stays after school for soccer practice, she has to call and let her parents know where she is.

Conjunctions join words or groups of words.

2 letter words	3 letter words
4 letter words	5 letter words
6 letter words	7 letter words

Conjunctions

How many words can you make from the sentence?

Interjections are words that express strong emotion. They are often followed by an exclamation mark.

We will use these and others in this section of the module:

aha!

wow!

hey!

oh

oops

oh!

ouch!

hooray!

whew!

goodness!

eh

bravo!

whoa
ugh

Interjections are words that express strong emotion. They are often followed by an exclamation mark.

1. Ow! Those fire ant stings really hurt.

2. Oops! I dialed the wrong number.

3. It will take about, oh, twenty minutes to get to the mall from here.

4. Well, I'm not sure when I'll be back at home.

5. You dropped that crystal vase just as your mother walked in the door. Yikes!

6. I didn't know that pair of shoes cost over a hundred dollars. Wow!

7. The seventh and last installment of the Harry Potter book series was published in 2007, alas.

Interjections Read and trace the interjections.

Drenched

Brrr! The wind blew cold against my neck. Although it was only five o'clock, the storm clouds that had gathered so quickly made it appear as if it were midnight. Ugh! I hate being caught in the rain. Not only that, I was going to be in hot water when I got home. My mother had told me to be home by three, oh man. I was just having so much fun. Well, there is nothing I can do now except try to beat the storm home. Yikes! That was a long bolt of lightning. It appeared to stretch all the way to the ground. I counted to 10, good. That means that the storm is about ten miles away. Whew. I just might make it. I turn the corner and can see my house. Maybe my luck just might hold out. Yippee! I am two house away when the skies just seem to open up and pour bucket of water directly on me. I ran up the steps to the safety of my porch. Wow, how can anyone get that wet in just a few seconds! But that was nothing compared to the look on my mother's face when she saw me. "Hi, Mom." was all I could say.

Interjections

Underline and write all the interjections you find in the story.

Drenched

Brrr! The wind blew cold against my neck. Although it was only five o'clock, the storm clouds that had gathered so quickly made it appear as if it were midnight. Ugh! I hate being caught in the rain. Not only that, I was going to be in hot water when I got home. My mother had told me to be home by three, oh man. I was just having so much fun. Well, there is nothing I can do now except try to beat the storm home. Yikes! That was a long bolt of lightning. It appeared to stretch all the way to the ground. I counted to 10, good. That means that the storm is about ten miles away. Whew. I just might make it. I turn the corner and can see my house. Maybe my luck just might hold out. Yippee! I am two house away when the skies just seem to open up and pour bucket of water directly on me. I ran up the steps to the safety of my porch. Wow, how can anyone get that wet in just a few seconds! But that was nothing compared to the look on my mother's face when she saw me. "Hi, Mom." was all I could say.

brrrr	ugh
oh man	yikes
good	whew
yippee	wow

Let's take a minute to review the parts of speech we have learned about in this module.

Action verb – describes the action or state of being.

Helping verb – helps express the action or state of being.

Linking verb – connects the subject to an adjective or noun describing it.

Adverb – modifies a verb, adjective, or another adverb.

Preposition- used before a noun or pronoun and shows a relationship to another word in the sentence.

Conjunction – a conjunction joins words or groups of words.

Interjection - words that express strong emotion

Review

Read and trace the dotted words.

1. Snakes can do many amazing things.

linking verbs

2. To avoid a predator, the European grass snake plays dead with its tongue hanging out of its mouth.

Prepositions

3. Cobras from India quickly raise their heads and flare out their necks so it looks like they are too big to fit into the predator's mouth.

adverbs

4. The three distinct warning signs that a rattlesnake is about to strike are: rattling its tail, raising its head, and coiling its body. Watch out!

action verbs

Review

Read and trace the dotted words.

4. Both the venomous coral snake and the harmless scarlet kingsnake have a bold black, red, and yellow pattern.

conjunctions

5. The very deadly southern cottonmouth does not passively slink away. It will unhinge its jaws and even attack. Yikes!

interjection

6. What could be a better disguise than to be the color of the grass you slither through? This slim grass snake can go unnoticed in your grass, unless you see it move.

helping verbs

Review Read and trace the dotted words.

1. Did you know that the City of Clute on the southeast coast of Texas celebrates "The Great Texas Mosquito Festival" every year?

_____

2. Since the mosquitoes are so plentiful in this area, it was a logical and entertaining choice for the townspeople to make.

_____

3. Mosquitoes can beat their wings 500 times a second.

_____

4. Females bite because they need the blood for making eggs.

_____

5. Mosquitoes have stylets that can saw through your skin. The stylet is hollow and acts like a straw to suck up blood into its body. Ugh!

_____

6. Their antennae can sense water to lay its eggs in or sweat from humans 300 feet away.

_____

7. Mosquitoes almost always lay their eggs on the water's surface. It takes only ten days from the laying of the eggs to the emergence of an adult.

_____

Word Bank

adverb	linking verb	prepostion
action verb	conjunction
helping verb	interjection

Review

Identify which parts of speech the underlined words are.

1. Did you know that the City of Clute on the southeast coast of Texas celebrates "The Great Texas Mosquito Festival" every year?

_____
preposition

2. Since the mosquitoes are so plentiful in this area, it was a logical and entertaining choice for the townspeople to make.

_____
linking verb

3. Mosquitoes can beat their wings 500 times a second.

_____
helping verb

4. Females bite because they need the blood for making eggs.

_____
action verb

5. Mosquitoes have stylets that can saw through your skin. The stylet is hollow and acts like a straw to suck up blood into its body. Ugh!

_____
interjection

6. Their antennae can sense water to lay its eggs in or sweat from humans 300 feet away.

_____
conjunction

7. Mosquitoes almost always lay their eggs on the water's surface. It takes only ten days from the laying of the eggs to the emergence of an adult.

_____
adverb

Word Bank

adverb	linking verb	prepostion
action verb	conjunction
helping verb	interjection

Game

Help the mosquito get to center stage at the "Great Texas Mosquito Festival."

This page intentionally left blank for creative use.

This page intentionally left blank for creative use.